THE TALK OF THE CAMPUS

Winter Convocation

STRESSING the responsibility for human welfare as a "basic purpose of education," President Calvert N. Ellis declared at the Winter Convocation that "no one can afford to devote himself to selfish ends in a time when the world is engaged in a race with destruction."

President Ellis addressed the college's record student body, which included 12 graduating seniors and 55 incoming students, at the combination graduating exercises and freshmen welcome in Oller Hall.

In emphasizing three fundamental purposes of education as: (1) vocational preparation; (2) cultural appreciation, and (3) human welfare or civic responsibility, the president pointed out that unselfish devotion to human welfare is an important "personal responsibility."

"It is not only the command of Jesus Christ," President Ellis stated, "but, too, it is a law of life that those who devote themselves to the welfare of their fellowmen receive the most permanent satisfactions."

He explained that Juniata College always has emphasized the education of persons who are responsible for human welfare. The vast majority of Juniata's graduates are found in the service professions and occupations.

"A college education must be more than an ornament or the recollection of adolescent college weekends," the president maintained. "An education must be more than vocational preparation, which is largely training."

"Education must include an appreciation of the cultural inheritances of the race and the development of the satisfaction of the spirit."

Preceding his address, President Ellis conferred degrees on an all-male class of 12. Eight received bachelor of science degrees and four were awarded bachelor of arts degrees.

Students who received bachelor of arts degrees were: Edward T. Angeny, Huntingdon; Charles E. Bidwell, Alexandria; Ross A. Bierly, Apollo; George V. Gardner, Lewistown.

Bachelor of science degrees were conferred upon: Charles Bargerstock, Jr., Johnstown; Theodore E. Biss, Huntingdon; Richard W. Grote, Latrobe; Peter M. Guillard, Saxton; John R. Hartman, Martinsburg; C. Robert Reiners, Jr., Huntingdon; Frederic E. Wells, Huntingdon; and William R. Wolfkill, Jr., Smithburg, Md.

Memorial Lobby

A GIFT of $10,000 to provide the memorial lobby in the proposed physical education building at the college has been made by Mr. and Mrs. Chalender H. Leshner of Huntingdon, in memory of their son, Lt. Chalender Lee Leshner.

The contribution, made in the Huntingdon-for-Juniata campaign, served as a tremendous boost to the Postwar Fund. Aided by a dynamic stretch drive, workers in the Huntingdon campaign recorded a subscribed total of more than $94,000, according to Chairman Charles S. Detwiler.

Specifically designated for the memorial lobby, the Leshner gift will not only honor the memory of their son but also will stand as fitting tribute to all of the 675 Juniata men and women who served in World War II. It will be known as the Chalender Lee Leshner Memorial Lobby.

Lieutenant Leshner, a graduate of the college in 1939, was reported missing over Holland on November 3, 1943. At the time he was lost, Leshner was serving as assistant operations officer of his squadron. He had received the Air Medal, the Purple Heart, and was awarded the Silver Star posthumously.

Active in athletics at Juniata, Leshner had been a member of the football and track teams prior to induction into service. He entered the Army Air Force January 17, 1942, and received his commission in November.

Principal objective in the Huntingdon campaign was to obtain funds to build the Memorial Physical Education building, estimated to cost at least $150,000. As explained by President Calvert N. Ellis, the memorial will be something the college and the community can use—a "living memorial."

Here and There

EXTENSION courses are being conducted in various communities by Juniata College in cooperation with the Church of the Brethren's Board of Christian Education of Western Pennsylvania. . . . Two courses were conducted in Somerset by Dr. Edgar S. Kiracofe, professor of education, and Prof. H. H. Nye, assistant professor of history. . . . Dr. Kiracofe taught a class of 32 in Methods of Teaching in Church School and Professor Nye instructed 23 students in a course in History of the Church of the Brethren.

On the Air

HUNTINGDON—and Juniata College—will be on the air soon over Radio Station WHUN.

The new station is scheduled for operation in February carrying a well-balanced program of local and national news, sports, music and variety. Cary M. Simpson of Huntingdon, a sophomore at the college, is program director of WHUN.

Samuel L. Stroh, Jr., manager of the station, recently signed an agreement with Mutual Broadcasting System to air its network broadcasts. However, local programs, including some from the college, will form an important share of the daily schedule.

WHUN is 1400 on your radio dial.

Brethren in Chicago, appeared at the college during Spiritual Emphasis Week, beginning February 10. . . . The Rev. Will is a brother of Dr. Homer C. Will, professor of biology at Juniata.

Working with the largest cast ever assembled for a Masque production on College Hill, the directors of Shakespeare's immemorial comedy, "As You Like It," are deep in concentrated rehearsals. . . . The play is scheduled for presentation in Oller Hall on February 28 and March 1. . . . Miss Esther M. Doyle, instructor of dramatics and speech, is directing the production assisted by Eugene Ankeny, of Windber, a student at the college.

Eugene A. Roddy, son of the Rev. and Mrs. C. S. Roddy, Wynnewood, Pa., has been elected president of the freshman class. . . . Roddy, a pre-ministerial student, is one of 260 veterans enrolled at Juniata. . . . Other officers elected were: Julius R. Long, Roaring Spring, vice-president; N. Katharine Long, Baltimore, secretary; and Robert L. Charles, Tyrone, treasurer.

An impressive presentation of the pageant of "The Holy Nativity" was given by students of the college's music and dramatics departments to feature the pre-Christmas activities.

Relaxation at exam time is a traditional "must" for students and faculty alike at the college in case you have forgotten. Aided by members of the Women's House Committee, Dean Edith L. Spencer serves cocoa, tea, coffee, cookies and cinnamon toast in the social rooms daily after examinations. Enjoying this year's delicacies are Glenn E. Cave, sophomore from Altoona; Sita Smith, freshman from Oslo, Norway; Dr. Raymond T. Davis, Jr., instructor in chemistry; Miss Jane Miller, instructor in home economics; Miss Mary Ruth Myers, assistant professor of music; and Dr. Edgar S. Kiracofe, professor of education.

Third row—Paul R. Yoder, Jr., Huntingdon; Paul Kleffel, Altoona; Frances R. Little, New Holland; Betty A. Alderfer, Parkerford; Melva R. Fleishman, Sebring, Fla.; Barbara C. Dickel, New Bloomfield; V. Elizabeth Reed, Hyde, Md.; Arent C. Heil, Carlisle; Robert L. Holsinger, Martinsburg.

Choir Tours

JUNIATA College's 36-voice mixed choir, widely recognized as the college's most successful musical organization, is now in its fifteenth season of presenting public concerts in churches and schools.

In its Western Pennsylvania tour February 2 to 9, the choir presented concerts in Everett, New Paris, Somerset, Meyersdale, Brotherton, Uniontown, California, Greensburg, Mt. Pleasant, Rummel and Johnstown. Prior to leaving, the choir appeared in Huntingdon and McConnellstown.

Seven other towns in central Pennsylvania and Maryland are included in the season's itinerary for single concerts by the choir later in the winter and spring.

These include: Chambersburg, Waynesboro, Hagerstown, Altoona, Tyrone, Mt. Union and Lewistown.

Prof. Charles L. Rowland, professor of music at Juniata College since 1920, again serves as director of the choir which has resumed its pre-war status with a full quota of male voices to supplement the women's voices. There are 10 sopranos, 10 altos, eight tenors, four baritones and four basses.

Featured with the choir in this year's tour will be the Varsity Quartet whose singing has been exceptionally well received in appearances before Huntingdon area service clubs.

Juniata's popular choir had its origin 26 years ago when a men's glee club and a women's glee club were organized. These groups existed until 1932, each making an annual eastern and western tour to build a reputation for "good singing styled by Juniata College."

In 1932 the combined choir was formed under the supervision and direction of Professor Rowland. Singing primarily A Capella, the mixed choir remained intact until wartime shortages of manpower necessitated its abandonment in 1943. For two years an all-girl choir was substituted.

The return of veterans in 1946 and this year, plus near-normal conditions, has made this year's Juniata choir appear as one of its finest. A 1947 quality and variety or repertoire as planned by Professor Rowland indicates "a most successful season."

J. J. Oller Gift

THE College has received a gift of $87,833 provided in the will of the late J. J. Oller, Waynesboro, Pa., former president of the Board of Trustees and greatest single benefactor of the college, President Calvert N. Ellis has announced.

Through his will, Mr. Oller left in trust for Juniata College this gift which has yielded for 10 years interest amounting to $2,000 annually. The gift is "unrestricted," President Ellis pointed out.

Mr. Oller was a trustee for 38 years and president of the Board from 1927 until his death in 1936. During his lifetime he gave the college more than $100,000 and the provisions of his will entitle him to be recognized as Juniata's greatest philanthropist.

A daughter, Miss Rello Oller, of Waynesboro, and two sons, J. F. Oller, Waynesboro, and Jack E. Oller, Huntingdon, are graduates of Juniata College and are continuing their father's philanthropy. The latter is assistant professor of modern languages at the college.

Expanding Again

CONSTRUCTION of a temporary building to supplement classroom space was speeded up during the winter months and occupancy is scheduled for March.

The emergency structure, similar to veterans' housing units on College Hill, is located south of the varsity tennis courts behind the gymnasium. It was originally proposed to place the building near the college's community for married veterans on Moore Street.

Surveyors of the J. Murray Africa Engineering Company, Huntingdon, allocated space for the 138 foot by 25 foot barracks-type unit just west of Oneida Street in the midst of a small grove of trees. Some trees were cleared during the Christmas

Who's Who

Twelve seniors at the college were selected for listing in the annual Who's Who Among Students in American Colleges and Universities. Selections were made on the basis of outstanding participation in athletics and extra-curricular activities.

Those named were: Charles Bargerstock, Jr., Johnstown, who was graduated at mid-year; Mary Louise Bumpus, Pittsburgh; Raymond Clapper-ton, McKees Rocks; Glenora M. Edwards, Nanty-Glo; Mary Louise Griffith, Meyersdale; Arvilla R. Knuth, Newport; Grace R. Landis, Fayetteville; William N. Maclay, Belleville; Cornelius F. Strittmatter IV, Montoursville; Charlotte R. Stutzman, Johnstown; S. Elizabeth White, Newtown; and Paul R. Yoder, Jr., Huntingdon.

holidays and construction began in January.

The building will include two classrooms and at least four faculty offices, according to early plans. Some furnishings were obtained from closed-out OPA offices in Mifflintown and Huntingdon, but this will be supplemented with other surplus equipment.

College authorities obtained the building through the War Assets Administration from Fort Washington, Va. It was transferred by truck to Huntingdon by Moyer Brothers Construction Company of Altoona.

New Instructors

THREE part-time instructors were added to the faculty at the college at the beginning of the spring term to teach courses in accounting and education. Two high school principals, Raymond F. Getty of Huntingdon and Henry J. Stoudt of Petersburg, are serving as visiting instructors in education courses. Herbert A. Miller, Huntingdon investment counselor, is instructor in accounting.

Mr. Getty and Mr. Stoudt are new members of the Juniata faculty but Mr. Miller previously taught at the college in 1945-46. A graduate of Lehigh University and of Harvard's School of Business Administration, Mr. Miller is instructing two courses in accounting.

The Huntingdon high school principal, Mr. Getty, teaches a course in high school administration. He is a graduate of Susquehanna University and received his Master of Education degree from Pennsylvania State College. Mr. Stoudt is instructing a course entitled "Teaching of social studies in elementary grades." He is a graduate of Shippensburg State Teachers College and also received a Master of Education degree from Penn State.

Planning Commission

PROBLEMS peculiar to the college because of its increased enrollment—including construction of new buildings—were discussed by Juniata's planning commission which met in Lititz, Pa., on January 24 and 25.

Plans and specifications for the new Dining Hall and Social Rooms were given final approval along with preliminary architect's drawings for the Memorial Physical Education building. It was recommended that construction be delayed until more favorable building conditions exist.

The Commission authorized conducting of area campaigns to boost the Postwar Fund in Blair County during February, Bedford County in March, and Kishacoquillas area in April. Repetition of 1946 special efforts will be held in Johnstown-Somerset area and Waynesboro-Hagerstown area in March, and Philadelphia and New York being campaigned in April.

Report From Yugoslavia:

People Facing Crucial Struggle To Rebuild

By Helen Camp Palmer

Editor's Note: There has been a tough winter in Europe and Mrs. Helen Camp Palmer has seen it first hand as a foreign correspondent. Mrs. Palmer, whose home is in Roaring Spring, Pa., attended Juniata College's center in Altoona in 1936-37 and completed her education at Penn State in 1940. A former Associated Press correspondent, Mrs. Palmer wrote this story for The Pittsburgh Press and it is reprinted with the permission of the editor.

BELGRADE — A great percentage of Yugoslavs probably will just miss starvation this winter and yet Yugoslavia in some ways is one of the more fortunate countries in Europe.

There will be hunger, and plenty of it, but some people will not starve while others feast. The one thing that Yugoslavia has accomplished that most European nations have failed at is in controlling her black market.

One housewife was hanged for hoarding, which is, to say the least, discouraging to similar offenders. At least two other death sentences have been pronounced for illegal sales of vital foodstuff and clothing. Many people have lost personal property and liberties or been subjected to heavy fines. However, American embassy personnel, caught in illegal currency exchanges, usually have been given the courtesy of immediate exile from the country.

Black Market Declines

When the war ended, Yugoslavia had a huge black market inherited from the German occupiers. Immediately, the new Government got tough and in a few months the black market began to decline.

In addition to harsh penalties for offenses, the new regime keeps a close control on the circulation of money. Producer and consumer cooperatives were formed to distribute goods. Government commercial stores rapidly replaced privately-owned shops in the cities.

Today in Yugoslavia it is almost impossible for anyone to accumulate large sums of money and hence impossible for large-scale black market participation.

Commercial establishments are permitted only a certain amount of cash on hand and must conduct most of their business by check, the theory being that black market operations are not conducted by checks.

Government Sells Foods

As an incentive to increase their production, farmers are given extra clothing and food allotments but no cash. Every attempt to raise wages has been resisted and extra "incentive coupons" for cloth or machinery, impossible to get otherwise, have been granted instead.

Furthermore, Yugoslavia, rations are unusually high for Europe, not because she has more but because what she has is rationed and not permitted to be sold on the black market.

UNRRA foodstuff and clothing, instead of being distributed free of charge, is sold by the Government. This, too, helps to prevent any accumulation of money. Fats and sugars have been the only steady black market commodities. These have been kept at a minimum by putting them on unrationed "free sale" whenever possible.

Some cases such as that of a woman who sold a pair of shoes sent her by a friend in Bucharest for a fantastically high price because she needed the money more than the shoes, have been overlooked by the Government as insignificant in the overall picture.

Originally the regime tried to stop such sales but now there are markets where it is carried on openly without Government sanction but also without permission.

To the Yugoslavs, who have not seen the fantastic black market operations and the worthlessness of money in France, Italy, Germany and other countries, their stable currency is small compensation as they face another cold, hungry winter.

Drought Ruins Crops

This was the winter they had hoped to be self-supporting. They planned for that and worked for it. Right after their liberation they went to work on the land. Even before UNRRA seeds, fertilizers, machines and animals arrived they did what they could to reconstruct fields trampled by armies and torn by bombs. They built wooden bridges by hand to speed up transportation of UNRRA equipment.

UNRRA aid arrived too late for the 1945 crop and even the Yugoslavs didn't hope for much from the land the first year it was retilled. When people starved or lived just above the starvation level they said that was to be expected. The winter of 1946, they added, would be different.

Last spring they worked the ground over and over and seeded and fertilized. On a custom tractor basis farmers were charged a fixed fee per acre for the cultivation.

Hapless Cagers

THIS year's basketball edition of Juniata Indians was labeled in pre-season dope as a team that would be no pushover. It appeared taller and deeper in good reserves than in recent years. Six lettermen, including three from last year's quintet, and one each from the 1942, 1943 and 1944 squads, appeared on the scene to bolster the cage contingent.

Unfortunately, Mike Snider's gang became a hapless band of tumbling Indians losing nine out of the first eleven games despite a flashy brand of basketball paced by Capt. Ray Clapperton and Ken Grote.

More than 40 men reported for early drills; 15 of these were selected for varsity and the remainder formed a junior varsity team under Coach Bill Smaltz. In addition to Clapperton and Grote, both lettermen last year, other familiar figures who returned after several years in service were Bob Querry, regular forward in 1942; Floyd Eisenhart, starting guard in 1943; and Jerry Rupert, center in 1944. Jack Walters, towering center, was the sixth letterman, but he did not remain out for the team.

Two Huntingdon boys, Blair Miller and Bob Norris, displayed sufficient promise to be cast in the "starting five" role with Clapperton, Grote and Eisenhart.

In a whirlwind three-game pre-holiday series, the Indians dropped a tough game to Gettysburg, 39-38; upset Bethany Biblical Seminary of Chicago, 82-72; and lost to a powerhouse Westminster team, 73-47. When Juniata topped Bethany in the scoring spree, the 154-point total set a new scoring mark for J.C. and was a district court record. The previous high for Juniata had been 137 points attained when the Indians trounced St. Francis 91-46 last season.

After Christmas, the team suffered a series of stinging defeats halted only by examination period late in January. Moravian and Albright rolled to impressive triumphs in league tilts of the western division of the Middle Atlantic States Conference. Moravian won 79-55 and Albright rolled to an easy 69-44 victory. It was all Franklin & Marshall in a home game as the Diplomats chalked up a 63-48 triumph.

Westminster then came to Huntingdon to administer another trouncing, 50-33, in the season's biggest home game at the high school gymnasium. Minus the services of two of its star offensive players, the Towering Titans held a slim 10 to 9 lead the first period. The half found the Washabaugh-coached machine in front 36 to 12, having held the Indians to three points for the second session. By the end of the third period, the Titans held a double-lead at 42-21 and used reserves in the fourth stanza, getting only eight points to 12 for the Indians.

Lebanon Valley poured it on in the next game to the tune of 60-40, but the Indians showed definite improvement in the following three games. Elizabethtown was topped, 47-43, and both St. Francis and Susquehanna had to come from behind in the final periods to record victories. In the second portion of a "big-time" double-header at Altoona, which included Duquesne and Akron, the Indians gave way to St. Francis, 46-41. Stagg's Crusaders squeezed out a 49-48 win in their ninth straight triumph.

Teamwork is the keynote in athletics at Juniata College this year as husband and wife—Bill and Betty Smaltz—team up on the physical education staff. Their interest in basketball is evident here. A former Penn State football passing wizard, Bill now analyzes basketball passing plays with Betty, a graduate of Penn State in 1942, who is coach of girls' basketball and instructor of women's physical education at Juniata. Bill directs the junior varsity cage quintet and also serves as assistant football coach and chief mentor of the baseball team.

Sports Shorts

P. M. Mike Snider, head coach of Juniata's basketball team, is secretary of the western division of the Middle Atlantic States Athletic Association cage conference . . . Four of the Indians original 15 varsity cage members answer to the name of "Bob." There's Bob Querry, Bob Norris, Bob Jamison, and Bob Holsinger. . . . Twelve of the 15 varsity courtmen are veterans of World War II. Eight of the 12 saw overseas service. . . . Average age of the cage squad this year is 21. Ray Clapperton, McKees Rocks veteran and captain, is the oldest at 27.

Nuf Sed!

WHEN a mediocre Ursinus team dropped the black curtain on Juniata's 1946 victory-less football season, 20-3, at Collegeville, it marked the first time since 1926 that the Indians had failed to record at least one victory in a season. Only the 1921 scoreless wonders failed to produce either a tie or a win.

Spring Sports

A 20-GAME baseball schedule, longest in Juniata's 43-year intercollegiate competition on the diamond, has been announced by Director of Athletics P. M. Snider.

The schedule includes an early-spring tour into Virginia to meet Bridgewater College, Randolph-Macon, and Quantico Marines.

Serving his first season as coach of the Juniata baseball team will be William R. Smaltz, former Penn State football pitching wizard, who succeeds Dr. Edgar S. Kiracofe. Dr. Kiracofe was chief mentor during the war years, but resigned this year because of academic duties.

The schedule: Mar. 31, Bridgewater at Bridgewater, Va.; Apr. 2, Randolph-Macon at Ashland, Va.; Apr. 3, Quantico Marines at Quantico, Va.; Apr. 12, Lebanon Valley at Annville; Apr. 19, Elizabethtown, home; Apr. 23, Dickinson, home; Apr. 25, Bucknell, home; Apr. 26, Pitt, home; Apr. 29, Albright at Reading.

May 1, Lebanon Valley, home; May 7, Susquehanna, home; May 9, Bucknell at Lewisburg; May 10, Dickinson at Carlisle; May 13, Elizabethtown at Elizabethtown; May 14, Susquehanna at Selinsgrove; May 17, Bridgewater, home; May 20, St. Vincent at Latrobe; May 21, Pitt at Pittsburgh; May 24, Ursinus, home; May 31, St. Vincent, home.

Dual meets with Dickinson and Albright and a triangular meet with Bucknell and Gettysburg are highlights of the track card. Juniata did not field teams in 1943, 1944 and 1945, but engaged in an abbreviated schedule last season.

The schedule: Apr. 19, Dickinson at Carlisle; Apr. 25-26, Penn Relays at Philadelphia; May 7, Bucknell and Gettysburg at Gettysburg; May 10, Albright, home; May 17, Middle Atlantic at New Brunswick, N. J.

The Juniata netmen will resume intercollegiate competition this spring after a four-season layoff. Ten matches with six Pennsylvania opponents have been scheduled as follows:

Apr. 12, Lebanon Valley at Annville; Apr. 19, Elizabethtown, home; Apr. 23, Dickinson, home; Apr. 29, Albright, home; May 1, Lebanon Valley, home; May 7, Susquehanna, home; May 10, Dickinson at Carlisle; May 13, Elizabethtown at Elizabethtown; May 14, Susquehanna at Selinsgrove; May 24, Ursinus, home.

tion of their land. In hilly sections where tractors couldn't be used draft animals were released. More than ninety per cent of the pre-war farming area was planted.

Plants came up and promised good healthy crops of wheat and corn and potatoes. Then from the beginning of March through the 25th of April no rain fell. Spring wheat failed or was set back but the undaunted peasants replanted with corn where they could get the seed. Corn that failed was also replanted.

By midsummer everything looked good and the Yugoslavs were sure that this was the year they could feed themselves at least with bread grains. But they knew it would take much longer to get meat, milk, butter and lard because livestock rehabilitation is much slower.

Saved by UNRRA Help

In July and August, the second drought came. This time there was nothing to be done about it. Crops expected to reach 80 per cent of pre-war yield at best yielded 50 per cent and in some areas were a third of normal or a total loss. Corn and wheat dried up in the fields. Potatoes were hit by blight and bugs.

Last year UNRAA aid saved the situation and kept people, especially in the mountain areas, from actual starvation.

The tragedy of Yugoslavia is not only in all the work that went for nothing but also in the fact that many people are unaware of what is coming later this Winter.

All Summer markets were glutted with vegetables and fruits and the country seemed rich in food. But there were no facilities for canning and hence nothing was put aside for the Winter.

Wheat is available in Belgrade now, giving the people a false sense of security, but it is available for only one reason. With the loss of the corn crop there is no fodder to feed the cattle over the Winter and so they are being butchered instead. This means that Yugoslavia's agriculture has been forced backward instead of forward, that her herds are being depleted instead of increased.

JOHN C. MIDDLEKAUFF '33
New Stone Church Pastor

But it is not the fault of the Yugoslavs. This year during their crucial struggle to rebuild, Nature let them down.

Enrollment Rises

THE College opened its spring term January 27 with an influx of 55 additional students to boost the enrollment to an all-time high of 590. Forty-two students are new and 13 are former undergraduates returning here.

Former servicemen dominated the list of new students as only seven women were enrolled for the second term. Ex-Army men outnumbered the Navy three to one.

Statistics compiled by the public relations office showed that the new students hailed from 16 different counties and had graduated from high school in ten different years from 1931 to 1946. Twelve were graduated in 1945, nine in 1944 and eight in 1946 with the remainder scattered in 1931, 1937, 1938, 1940 through 1943. Nearly 60 percent had ranked in the upper third of their class.

Former students, listed by counties, returning to the college this term include:

Adams: Daniel B. Harlacher, York Springs.

Allegheny: James A. Gittings, 840 Stanton Ave., Millvale; Robert I. Weiner, 1401 Centennial Ave., McKeesport.

Bedford: James D. McCavitt, Defiance.

Blair: James K. Hershberger, Martinsburg; Daniel E. Sell, 419 Bell Ave., Altoona; Harold D. Snider, 704 Poplar St., Roaring Spring.

Bucks: John M. Grasse, Jr., Blooming Glen.

Clearfield: Richard K. Bloom, Irvona.

Delaware: Louis Sileo, 418 Bickley Place, Chester.

Franklin: Virginia M. Gordon, 104 S. Washington St., Greencastle.

Huntingdon: James W. Mullin, 113 4th St., Huntingdon.

York: Edward J. Bowser, R. D. 3, York.

PERSONALS

The California reunion at the home of Dr. ('26BS) and Mrs. ('26ex) C. R. Pentz, Long Beach, was greatly enjoyed by Lucy Leatherman Mohler, 2280 White Ave., Pasadena 8, Calif. She writes: "the pleasure was in meeting some I knew in school and others who have been there in recent years."

1896

Dr. C. V. Mierley, CR

1526 Mifflin St., Huntingdon, Pa.

Word was received this winter that Mrs. D. E. Billman, Sr., died last April 12, 1946, at St. Petersburg, Fla. She was 70 years old. Mr. Billman's address is Box 586, St. Petersburg, Fla.

1898

Mr. John J. Hoover, CR

22 College St., Dayton, Ohio

Broadcasts from the Pennsylvania Farm Show in Harrisburg were handled this year by George H. Wirt who joined WHP's Farm Bureau after serving 45 years in the Pennsylvania Department of Forests and Waters. Although Mr. Wirt's duties with the State were confined to forestry, he came in contact with farmers throughout the State to give him appropriate background for his present position.

After attending Juniata College and receiving a B.E. degree, Mr. Wirt obtained a bachelor of forestry degree from the Biltmore Forest School in 1901. He then was named Pennsylvania's first forester and began the Commonwealth's first technical forest work at Mont Alto in 1902.

Jacob H. Hollinger, ex, who attended the college in 1895, and has been active in alumni work, has retired as civilian assistant clerk of the Bureau of Supplies and Accounts, Navy Department, after 43 years of government service. A native of Cumberland County, Mr. Hollinger was first employed by the Brooklyn Navy Yard as a stenographer in 1903. Three years later he went to Washington as a clerk with the General Board of the Navy. The following year he transferred to the Bureau of Supplies and Accounts.

Mr. Hollinger is presiding elder of the Washington City Church of the Brethren in Frederick, Md. He plans to devote more of his time to church activities now. He received a Meritorious Civilian Service Award for his wartime service in the Navy Bureau.

Prof. H. B. Speicher, CR

Boswell, Pa.

The Rev. Charles L. Cox, ex, is serving his twenty-first year as pastor of the Church of the Brethren at Claysburg.

1908

Prof. J. S. F. Ruthrauff, CR

Girard College, Philadelphia, Pa.

Dr. Arthur J. Culler, former pastor of the Heights Christian Church, Cleveland, Ohio, and leader in national and international social relief and interdenominational work, died in November, 1946. Born in Hartville, Ohio, Dr. Culler was graduated from Juniata College in 1908.

Recognized by an editorial in the Cleveland Plain Dealer as "an honored leader in his church and in movements of national and international significance," Dr. Culler had given up his pulpit in 1944 not to enjoy a leisure but to "do things he wanted to do." These things he did. They extended beyond the church into all fields of human welfare. They included work in the Children's Aid Society, the American Red Cross, civilian defense and lecturing in South America.

As an indication of Dr. Culler's contributions to the community in which he worked, Dean Leonard W. Mayo of Western Reserve University called him "a tower of strength." He was recognized as an educator, pastor, preacher, administrator — and a Christian statesman. Following graduation from Juniata, Dr. Culler received a degree from Union Theological Seminary, and in 1912 took his Ph.D. at Columbia University. From 1911 to 1914 he was pastor of the Geiger Memorial Church in Philadelphia, and from 1914 to 1921 served as pastor of the college church and dean of the Divinity School of McPherson College, McPherson, Kan. In 1921 he was dean of men and professor of New Testament at Hiram College, Hiram, Ohio.

Dr. Culler is survived by his wife, Mary Stover, '10ex, and a son, George D., both of 16815 Holbrook Road, Shaker Heights. Another son, A. Dwight, lives in New Haven, Conn.

William G. Nyce, ex, who has a son William '48 and a daughter Gwendolyn '49 at Juniata, is in the commercial printing and greeting card publishing business. His home is 900 Columbia Ave., Lansdale, Pa., and his publishing building is located at Vernfield. Mr. Nyce's business has a national scope as his trade deals with general stores, gift shops, news stands, and drug stores all over the country. The NYCE line features seasonal greetings cards and one of the country's largest line of "greetings from home town" post cards.

Prof. J. Elmer Butts, CR

Martinsburg, Pa.

Harris W. Holsinger has returned to his law practice at 810 Hanna Building, Cleveland, Ohio, after nearly five years of Army service. As a colonel, Mr. Holsinger served as executive officer of the legal section of General Douglas MacArthur's staff in Tokyo. He received a Presidential Citation and the Army Commendation Ribbon. Home address is: 95 East 204th St., Euclid, Ohio.

1923

Miss Martha Mentzer, CR

4026 Courtland Ave., Altoona, Pa.

Mazie L. Riley has reported that she is still enjoying her work as librarian of the Middletown Township High School in Leonardo, N. J. She is living at 75 W. Highland Ave., Atlantic Highlands, N. J.

1925

Hon. D. Raymond Sollenberger, CR

Williamsburg, Pa.

Kenneth Bechtel is teaching in the department of sociology and psychology at McPherson College, Kan. He started at the beginning of the fall term.

The secretary of the Washington Alumni Association, Lois Moomaw, was married on November 18, 1946, to Benjamin Allen LeFevre, of Washington, D. C. They were associates in Red Cross work during the war. Her present address is 307 Maple Avenue, Falls Church, Va.

Mr. James I. Weimer, CR

Huntingdon, Pa.

"Widely traveled" is the report from A. Jay Replogle who made a 8,500-mile auto tour last summer with Mrs. Replogle. In their travels they saw 24 states and Mexico; attended the annual conference of the Church of the Brethren in Wenatchee, Wash.; attended Rotary in five states; and "did some sightseeing." Mr. Replogle is teaching mathematics, coaching girls' athletics and is school treasurer at Grantsville, Md., high school. The Replogles live at "The Pines," Salisbury, Pa.

A daughter was born to Mr. and Mrs. Telford B. Blough on December 3, 1946, weighing in at seven pounds ten ounces — reported by the Cone-maugh Township school paper as "the national average weight." Mr. Blough also was reported as "doing nicely" back on the job as principal of the high school. The baby's name is Crystal Elizabeth.

Mr. Joseph W. Howe, CR

Jesse W. Heister writes from Mattawanna, Pa., that he continues to teach health and history in Bratton Consolidated School near Mattawanna.

After selling a $13,000 herd of Jersey cattle at public sale, Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur J. Little have heeded the advice of Horace Greeley and are "going west." They have purchased a 100-acre farm in Cedar County, Iowa. The Littles started farming near New Enterprise about 10 years ago and Mr. Little became an ardent Jersey cattle owner. They sold the 75 acre farm on which they lived and another 123-acre farm nearby.

Moving ahead in the educational field is John R. Beery, who is now professor of education and coordinator of the University guidance center at the University of Miami. Mr. Beery, who received his M.A. from University of Chicago and his Ph.D. from Columbia University, joined the staff at Miami in 1941. He took charge of the guidance center in 1945 after serving in the Air Force for more than three years. As an officer in the AAF, he was supervisor of Academic Training at Officer Candidate School. The Beerys live at 3951 Park Drive, Coconut Grove, Miami, Fla. They have a daughter, Linda Althea, born September 1, 1946.
